CPP30411 - Certificate III in Security Operations

This qualification meets the licensing requirements in all Australian States and Territories except NSW, Victoria and Western Australia. Apply for RPL today to see what your options are.

CLET offers RPL in the CPP30411 Certificate III in Security Operations to current and former police and military. The CLET CPP30411 Certificate III in Security Operations meets the licensing requirements for all Australian States and Territories except NSW, Victoria and Western Australia.

As a stand alone qualification, the CPP30411 Certificate III in Security Operations meets licensing requirements for a number of different roles such as bodyguarding and crowd control. When combined with the CPP20212 Certificate II in Security Operations, a larger amount of roles can be covered.

CLET offers RPL for the CPP30411 Certificate III in Security Operations stand alone, but also offers it combined with the CPP20212 Certificate II in Security Operations.

The different licensing opportunities arise from the different units of competency. You do not need to know which units are required as CLET closely monitors all licensing requirements across Australia and will combine the units for you. You can simply ask for assessment for all possible roles in your State or Territory, or specify which role you are seeking licensing for, and CLET will do the rest.

Listed below are all possible units offered for combination by CLET and cover areas such as bodyguarding, crowd control, cash-in-transit, batons and handcuffs, monitoring, and unarmed licensing. The CLET RPL Team will present you with the options available to you following assessment.

Please note: CLET does not offer any weapons units of competency for licensing.
